Woman's Club Hears Smith

"Man Created" – a study of ecology and the effect of human activities on the environment of Appomattox County was the program given Monday evening by J. A. Smith, extension agent, agriculture, addressing the Appomattox Woman's Club.

The Woman's Club discussed various needs of the Appomattox County Rescue Squad, the club's major service project. The officers pointed out that the Rescue Squad continues to need funds for gasoline, bandages, oxygen and vital equipment for the new vehicle which will be delivered soon. Although the Squad's fund drive was very successful, this money is being used for the vehicle alone - with no money left over for "extras".

The Woman's Club voted to dispense with their regular May 3rd meeting in order to attend, as a group, a special program at Patrick Henry Boys Plantation on Sat. May 15. Members were also urged to attend the Patrick Henry Boys Plantation buffet at the Homestead (near Lynchburg) set for Friday, May 7.

In his address on local ecology Mr. Smith pointed out that Appomattox county has at least 48 unlawful dumps. On one Sunday he and his family counted 51 abandoned automobiles on a four-mile stretch of Road 608. He pointed out that 1972 is the deadline for towns and county governments to prepare sanitary landfills, to eliminate present dumping and burning methods now employed.

Speech - Hearing Clinic Asks Scholarships

About 700 children in Appomattox County will have their hearing tested in September, according to plans being made now by the Cent. Va. Speech and Hearing Clinic.

In a recent meeting, Dr. J. A. Mathews told a group of civic club representatives that plans are proceeding for the hearing clinic here.

David Jaffe, executive director of the Speech-Hearing Clinic has estimated that 10% of the people in this area have hearing problems.

Currently, Appomattox is being asked for $3,000 in order to supply the Center with a calibrating machine, a necessary (and expensive) piece of equipment.

In addition, the Speech and Hearing Clinic, financed by private donations and business and civic organizations, is seeking funds for "scholarships" so that needy children and adults can receive speech and hearing therapy.

Anyone interested in the program is invited to contact Dr. J. A. Mathews for details.
